Senate Passes Yeakeel Bill Making Appropriation to National Farm School

By Tony S. Smith
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, May 26—Republican floor leader Sen. Clarence J. Buckman, Bucks County, had plenty to say on the floor of the upper chamber Monday night. . . . One assertion which surprised solons and spectators came upon discussion of the reapportionment bill which would consolidate Bucks County with Lehigh thus eliminating the district represented by the veteran legislator. . . . On the measure, Buckman told the Senate: "Gentlemen, I ask you not to consolidate the district I represent with Lehigh County. If the measure was designed to remove me from the Senate, I can only say the Democrats are 28 years late. I will not be a candidate for re-election and in all fairness to my successor, I think the Senate should vote down this bill."

A more heated outburst was forthcoming from the GOP whip when the Poor Board "ripper" bill was being debated. In this connection, Buckman said: "I don't want to hear the expression 'Poor Boards' used again. For the information of the membership of this chamber, I wish to state that in Bucks County we have no poor board; we have institutions but no poor board."

Also on final passage in the upper chamber this week was the Yeakeel bill making an appropriation to the National Farm School at Doylestown, and the Longaker measure to amend the boroughs act of 1923 by extending its provisions to include boroughs situated in different counties which have consolidated.

Meanwhile, the House gave its final stamp of approval to the Ganser Soil Conservation bill. . . . Introduced by Rep. Hiram Ganser, D. Montgomery, the measure would divide the state into soil conservation districts and regulate soil erosion.

One of the more drastic measures not sponsored by the administration which passed finally in the House Monday night was the Marino bill to make mandatory 6 to 1 decisions of the Supreme and Superior Courts in invalidating acts of the Legislature. The measure, introduced by Rep. Russell Marino, D., Washington, was twice defeated and many times amended.

Appeal Made for General Wearing of Red Poppies

An appeal for general wearing of the memorial poppy in remembrance of the World War dead at this memorial season, was issued today by Mrs. Harry Wessaw, president of the Robert W. Bracken unit of the American Legion Auxiliary. She asked that every person in Bristol pay honor to the men of the city and of the nation who gave their lives in defense of the country by wearing a poppy on Poppy Day.

"The poppy is the individual tribute to the memory of the men who died in World War service," said Mrs. Wessaw. "Everyone can wear a poppy to show that he remembers and is grateful for the gallant sacrifices made for America's security and democracy. Every patriotic citizen will take part in the observance of Poppy Day."

"The poppy is the symbol of the supreme sacrifice. It stands for the highest type of patriotism we can conceive. Wearing this little flower awakens in our hearts a deeper conception of our duties to our country. It reminds us that life itself is not too much to give if our country is in danger and gives us inspiration to serve in peace with the same spirit of patriotic devotion that inspired those who died among the poppies of France."

Members of the Auxiliary are distributing poppies here, receiving in exchange for them contributions for the Legion and Auxiliary welfare work among the disabled veterans and needy families of veterans. The poppies have been made by disabled veterans at various veterans' hospitals.

May Not Fill Vandevanter Vacancy Immediately

Washington, May 26—President Roosevelt may not fill the impending Vandevanter vacancy in the Supreme Court until another expected retirement gives him the opportunity of making two appointments at the same time, it was rumored today on Capitol Hill.

The unconfirmed report indicated the President desired to give Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, Democratic leader of the Senate, one of the vacancies, and a young New Deal brain truster the other. This course of action, it was explained, would satisfy both the brain trust section, who urge appointment of a young man, and the Congressional demand for Robinson's elevation to the Supreme Court.

Replies To Earle

Harrisburg, May 26—Gov. George H. Earle's charges that lobbyists were threatening the Legislature program, found an answer from the Republican minority today.

Representative Davis R. Perry, R., Blair, replied to the Governor's special message to the Legislature with charges that the Earle administration was using cabinet members as lobbyists. He said: "The Governor has implied a direct insult to the honesty and intelligence of many members of this body. The only feature of his speech was the statement it would be his last appearance before this body unless an emergency arose. That statement, in the interest of Pennsylvania, I say, 'God save the Commonwealth of such an emergency.'"

Rains Benefitted Crops

Philadelphia, May 26—Ample rains during the last week stimulated growth and was generally beneficial to farming in Pennsylvania, the U. S. Department of Agriculture pointed out today in its weekly synopsis of weather and crop conditions.

Rains were light and moderate, but ample for all needs, explained Weather Forecaster George S. Bliss. Fairly good progress was reported in field working due to more settled weather.

"The nights were cold, but daytime temperatures stimulated a fair growth of vegetation," read the government report.

Consider Police Bill

Harrisburg, May 26—First of the State Police merger bills, reported from committees, setting up a measure of retirement system for the proposed Pennsylvania motor police, was before the House for initial consideration today. The measure's appearance, it was believed, discredited reports the proposed consolidation of the State Police with the Highway Patrol was heading for a committee death.

Also reported from House committees were bills creating a "little NRA" for automobile dealers, by establishing prices for used cars and providing for a 44-hour week for them.

EXCESSIVE TAXATION DRIVES INDUSTRY AWAY

Migration of Industries Out of State Cause for Serious
Concern

COMMISSION REPORTS

HARRISBURG, May 26—(INS)—Cold statistics warned the 132nd Legislature today that "excessive" taxation was driving industry out of Pennsylvania.

In its third preliminary report to the General Assembly, the Dent Legislative Commission, investigating Pennsylvania's tax structure as it compares with that of neighboring states, asserted:

"And even at this early date we are in a position to say that the migration of industries from Pennsylvania has reached a point where all thoughtful citizens, and especially those entrusted with making our laws, well may pause to give serious consideration to the causes of these removals, and the painful consequences of this continued exodus of production, employment and payrolls from our state."

The report contained a survey of 24 industries in one type of manufacturing, hosiery, which have moved out of Philadelphia the past two years, because, the Dent Commission held, they found the tax burdens lighter in other states.

These plants gave regular employment to about 6,720 workers, at an annual payroll of $9,828,000.

This condition, the report maintained, was not confined to Philadelphia but prevailed throughout the Commonwealth, resulting in the loss of purchasing power, employment, and the number of taxables.

The Curtis Publishing Company, the Commission said, is contemplating removal from the State because of high taxes. The report quoted a letter from Armstrong Cork Co., Lancaster, holding it paid $18.12 per $1,000 investment in Pennsylvania taxes, as against $3.48 in Massachusetts, $7.1 in New Jersey, and $5.95 in New York.

ST. MARY'S CELEBRATION TO START TOMORROW

Two Unusual Features Are Booked for 4-Day
Program

HISTORICAL PAGEANT

BURLINGTON, N. J., May 26—St. Mary's Hall for Girls' centennial celebration gets underway here tomorrow and will conclude Sunday.

Two of the unusual features of the celebration will be an alumnae review and an historical pageant given by girls of the school, depicting the historical romance of town and school. The alumnae review will feature former graduates of St. Mary's and prominent men of Burlington County, whose families have been associated with the institution, who will take the various parts. The Rt. Rev. Wallace J. Gardner, Bishop Coadjutor of New Jersey, will appear in the review, impersonating Bishop W. H. Odenheimer, once president of the board of trustees. This is to be given at four o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Thursday will, in accordance with tradition, be observed as Founder's Day. At 10:30 o'clock the Rt. Rev. John C. Ward, of Erie, whose mother graduated from the school, will preach at the chapel service, after which there will be the beautiful ceremony of the crowning of Bishop Doane's portrait. There will be a reception that night for guests, alumnae and students.

The Most Rev. James DeWolf Perry, presiding bishop of the church in America, will preach at 11 o'clock Friday morning in St. Mary's Church, the historic parish church of Burlington. At two o'clock, after luncheon at the hall, the Rev. Walter H. Stowe, of New Brunswick, historiographer of the diocese, will speak on the "Forgotten Woman in the History of St. Mary's Hall." At three o'clock the students will present the pageant, written by Miss Lucille Foster, head of the English department.

Five of the six episodes will depict incidents in the history of Burlington, which was the capital of the Province of West Jersey and a colonial settlement of importance. The first will show the native Indians before the coming of the white man and the second the arrival of English Quakers on the shores of the Delaware, bringing with them the Concessions and Agreements of the Proprietors.

Other scenes will include the visit of William Penn to Burlington; the meeting of the State Constitutional Convention in Burlington in 1776; the visit of General George Washington and Lady Washington to Governor and Mrs. Bloomfield in 1782. The last episode deals with the history of the school from the arrival of 52 timid young ladies at the then very progressive and modern school through the opening of the hall in 1837; laying of the cornerstone of the Chapel of the Holy Innocents by Bishop Doane, 1845; boys of Burlington College and girls of St. Mary's Hall entertained July 4, 1857, at Riverside by Bishop Doane; General Ulysses S. Grant's visit to St. Mary's 1864, and the exodus of girls from the school to see the soldiers embark for the Spanish-American War in 1898.

The last scene will be a wheel of progress with all the characters slowly revolving around Bishop Paul Mat-

ACQUIT VANDEGRIFT ON ASSAULT CHARGE; PAYS HALF OF COSTS

Case Grew Out of Accident on Bristol Pike; One Woman
Injured

INNOCENZI ACQUITTED

John Adis, Doylestown, Pleads
Guilty to Buying Junk
From Minors

DOYLESTOWN, May 26—Russell H. Vandegrift, Edgington, was acquitted in court this morning, on a charge of assault and battery by automobile. Vandegrift was directed to pay one-half of the costs, and one-half of the costs at first was placed on Dr. Frank D'Imperio, Bristol. The share allotted to the physician was later changed, Judge Samuel Shull directed that this be set aside, this half being placed on the county, inasmuch as Dr. D'Imperio was not the prosecutor. The prosecutor in the case was Corporal R. D. Evans, of the Oxford Valley substation of the state highway patrol.

The case grew out of an automobile accident which occurred on Bristol Pike, March 9th, at one a. m. It was brought out that Dr. D'Imperio and his wife were riding in their automobile when they struck the Vandegrift car and overturned several times, Mrs. D'Imperio being injured. It was testified that the Vandegrift car was parked along the highway, and suddenly started out on the highway as the D'Imperio car approached.

Herman Innocenzi, Trenton, N. J., on trial for carrying firearms without a license, was acquitted by a jury, and directed to pay the costs. The Commonwealth alleged that Innocenzi held a Springtown boy, Michael Szabare a prisoner in a truck for several hours at Springtown in February, and demanded that Szabare tell the location of a still.

John Adis, Doylestown, in court this morning, pleaded guilty to buying junk from minors, this case being heard before Judge Shull. It was claimed that Adis bought junk from two boys, aged 16 and 18 years. Adis was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs.

NEW PLANT FOOD

The Tennessee Valley Authority, which has a mandate from Congress, backed with good Government funds, to "improve, increase and cheapen the production of fertilizer and fertilizer ingredients," announces that it is getting results. A new phosphate product is promised which will contain a much larger percentage of phosphorus available as plant food.

This is hopeful and the actual achievement will be important to agriculture. Since production has not begun and the stuff hasn't even had the advantage of practical farm tests, the dissertation by Dr. Harcourt A. Morgan, vice-chairman of the TVA, on results to be expected, seems premature.

Dr. Morgan proclaims that virtually all the land in the country lacks fertility. Cotton, wheat, corn and other products, he says, have taken from the soil the plant-food elements necessary to productivity. One would get the impression that starvation stalks the land, notwithstanding the efforts of the Department of Agriculture to bribe farmers to keep down production. And Dr. Morgan predicts, too, that when TVA fertilizer gets going, that old demon erosion will be scotched and fertility will be restored to millions of acres now "listed as submarginal and as such, worthless."

What a crimp that will put in the Government program, with erosion checked and production vastly increased and no visible excuse for distributing subsidies among the farmers!

All of which puts in contrast the methods of private industry with those boosted by Government backing.

ANOTHER DIZZY PLAN

Moved, like so many others, by the spectacle of the Government borrowing good money to buy gold for its hole-in-the-ground at Fort Knox, Representative Dies, of Texas, has come forward with another of those plans. He would have the Government issue money backed by the buried gold and use this to pay for relief.

The Dies plan has the merit of being no screwier than that put forward last week by that other currency expert, Representative Ham Fish, of New York. The only reason the Government borrows the money to buy the gold is to prevent its purchases from increasing the total volume of currency outstanding. That is the so-called gold "sterilization" policy. Previously it bought the gold with currency, backed by the metal; so what Representative Dies is proposing is abandonment, in effect, of the sterilization policy. At least, it should be evident—except possibly to the bemused Mr. Dies—that borrowing to buy the gold and issuing currency for relief is in no wise different from issuing currency to buy gold and continuing to borrow for relief as usual. It would be merely a remarkably complicated method of reaching the same, at present, undesired end.

The Nation's very best minds still are fumbling with the gold import problem without finding a solution.

After watching it work, a local Tory wonders why the Wagner Act wasn't broadened to guarantee Belgium against invasion.

Buckman Tells Senate He Is Not A Candidate

re-announced in the House before it was sent to the Senate. Observers believed, however, the bill would be snuffed out in committee once it reaches the upper chamber.

Should the Legislature not adjourn on May 28—and many administration leaders freely predict it won't—state employees will not go without remuneration during the month of June.

An appropriation bill introduced by Sen. John S. Rice, D., Adams, would provide $3,500,000 to take care of the payroll until the regular appropriation bill is approved. Also speeding through the General Assembly "just in case" was a $4,837,000 appropriation measure to care for relief during June.

In both House and Senate the order of the day was the passage of administration "must" legislation and little was heard from members other than administration spokesmen. There was no action from the Bucks-Montgomery delegations.

Legislative observers could not help but smile amusedly when the Governor in addressing the joint legislative session Monday night deplored lobbyists and warned "all legislators" against their methods and tactics. For those who were present at the beginning of the session remember all the talking administration leaders did about pushing through an anti-lobby bill. However, somehow it got to committee and was never heard again. And, there was no outwardly apparent attempt of the Administration to force the measure out.

Representative Longaker, incidentally, has a measure slated for final consideration in the Senate this week which would provide for the creation, maintenance and operation of a county employees retirement system in counties of the third class.

Another part of the 'habit' is that we always buy from Joe Mills, owner of the Mills Chevrolet Company, our Chevrolet dealer in Colorado, Texas. As the big spaces of Texas test both cars and friendships, I think our long-time loyalty says much for the dependability of both the Chevrolet car and our local Chevrolet dealer. ROHM & HAAS NINE CLIMBS OUT OF CELLAR

BRISTOL TWILIGHT LEAGUE
—Schedule for Tonight—
ROHM & HAAS - ODD FELLOWS
(Edgely)

Scoring heavily in the first two frames, the Rohm & Haas team climbed out of the cellar last night when it handed the Grundy's nine an 8-3 set-back on the Maple Beach ball field. Earlier in the season, the Grundy team had triumphed over the chemical mixers and this was their second meeting.

The four tallies in the first were practically all earned with Berry having a single, Andy a pass and doubles were made by Massilla and Saxton. An error was made by Moran. In the following canto, the woolen makers blew up altogether and two miscues, a pass, and a single by Scott accounted for three tallies.

In the meantime, "Art" Fuoco was taking things rather easy for the Rohm and Haas team but found himself slipping in the fifth and so was replaced by Jefferies who did a good job of relief pitching. Antonelli and Narcisi divided the pitching for Grundy's with the latter going into the box in the third.

Earl Jefferies was the batting star of the evening, connecting for a single and a double for the losing club to drive in two runs and score the other himself.

HIBERNIANS BATTLE ST. ANN'S TO DEADLOCK

A bit of old-time rivalry flared on Leedom's field last night as the St. Ann's A. A. nine and the Hibernians battled to a 2-2 deadlock before a large crowd. The tilt was declared "no contest" by Umpire Tomlinson in the last half of the sixth.

Going into the last half of the sixth, the Saints were leading, 2-1. The St. Ann's team claimed that it was too dark to continue to play but Umpire Tomlinson ruled otherwise. Purcell hit a liner to left which Avella dropped. But on the next play, a fast double-play, Forman to Pico to Sagolla, wiped them both out. Sullivan and Breslin singled and Clay, batting for Stallone, walked to fill the bases.

On a short passed ball, Sullivan counted but Breslin was out. However, Tomlinson ruled that Breslin could not advance more than one bag and ordered him back to third. This caused an argument and before the crowd could be cleared, darkness had come over the field, hence the decision of Tomlinson.

UNIQUE "PEPP ER" GAME TO BE STAGED HERE TONIGHT

An extra feature of the exhibition put on by the bearded House of David team at each place they appear is the famous "pepper game" or baseball juggling act. Shadowen, center fielder; Woods, first baseman, and Vann, third baseman, are the jugglers in the act, with Moose Swaney, the veteran south-paw, as the batter. They start their performance like an ordinary pepper game with the three first named tossing the ball in turn to Swaney who bunts it back to them. Then the tossers start making false throwing motions at the batter and passing the ball back and forth between themselves, occasionally varying the procedure with a real toss to the batsman who is kept in a state of nervous anxiety, swinging at the fake pitches as well as the genuine ones. The players passing the ball increase the pace of their juggling until it is almost impossible for the spectators to follow the pellet in its flight. They toss it over their shoulders, behind their backs, between their legs and otherwise, sometimes throwing their gloves instead of the ball, and occasionally even removing their shoes and tossing them to their companions. During the greater part of the exhibition the batter uses a huge bat, almost ten times the size of an ordinary bat. The House of David nine plays the Landreth team here tonight at the Landreth ball park, beginning at 6.15.

BLACK OR ASHBY TO BE ON MOUND TONIGHT

Howard Black or Turner Ashby will draw the pitching assignment for the Landreth Seeds team tonight against the bewhiskered House of David nine. The tilt will be played on the Landreth ball field, starting at six o'clock.

The visiting nine is the original House of David team barnstorming the country and comes from Benton Harbor, Michigan. It is managed by Tom Murphy, who originated the first House of David nine. In the majority of games last season, the House of David team finished on the long end of the scores. This season, as the team trained in the South, quite a number of major league clubs were whipped by the bewhiskered players.

Landreth finally got into the win column again over the week-end when it conquered the Lindenwood team twice by large scores. In both games, the Landrethmen gained a large number of hits, something which had been lacking, showing that the localites got their hitting eyes on the pill.

The largest crowd of the season is anticipated.

MR. TERRY IS BACK IN FEUD WITH WRITERS

By Davis J. Walsh
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, May 26—(INS)—Read those big police posters, with the pointing index finger, and they'll give you the answer:

"You CAN'T win!" It means that the lone iconoclast has no chance against organized opinion, but either Bill Terry, of the Giants, doesn't read or he's not looking for answers. Anyhow, I wouldn't want to say that the hot and cold running feud—(hot when the Giants are, cold when Mr. Terry decides it's time to con the boys)—between the manager and his accompanying baseball writers has turned tepid.

As a matter of fact, it is hotter than ever, Mr. Terry evidently having willed it so.

Two recent developments have brought the thing to a boil, one of these being the "gag rule" that Terry seems to have decreed for his club. The other concerns an incident of a few evenings ago, in which Terry so plainly wished to avoid speaking to the ball writers that he went all the way to the hotel basement in order to take an elevator to his room.

The "gag rule" evidently has gone in on the players, for they speak to the writers only when spoken to and then in a shy, pained way. They have nothing against the writers and wish very fervently for the writers to have nothing against them. But fear of the Iron Manager is greater than their fear of the press.

Personally, they think he has over-matched himself. So do fifteen other managers in the major leagues. It may well be that the latter like the writers as a class no better than William does, but wild horses and the National Guard couldn't drag the admission from them—excepting maybe in the bosom of the family and then only after drawing all blinds and the stuffing of the key-holes.

But Terry does more than merely admit his antipathy; he publicly announces it in every way possible. So much so, in fact, that he has spent the last four years trying to beat the power of the press.

Promotion Exercises Held at Tullytown

Joseph Morgan, Lewis Esterline, Michael Headley.

"The Vanishing Pearls" was the title of a play which was very well staged by the following pupils: Ruth Bachofer, Jack Heibie, Rose Lucisano, Dorothy Polak, Joseph Morgan, Sonia Johnson, Lillian Hirst, Louise Lucisano, Albert Monti, John Silvi, Kenneth Parr, Joseph Napoli, Pauline Heller, Doris Nelson, Betty Bachofer, Anna Mae Stake, Julia Swangler, Mary Doto, Clara Lavenberg, Christine Johnson, Viola Schaffer, Lottie Termyna.

Cut flowers, palms, and crepe paper in the class colors of green and white decked the church attractively, and many witnessed the ceremonies.

Numerous gifts were given to class members by Rose Lucisano.

The program also included: Song, fifth and sixth grades; trumpet solo, Gene Mather; guitar selections, Alfred Heller and William Tyrell; guitar numbers, Margaret Betts, Louis Napoli and Joseph Cutchineal; songs, primary grades; quartet, Samuel Doto, William Hubbs, William Tyrell and Lester Heller; recitation, Sonia Johnson. The Rev. Alexander McConaghy, pastor of Tullytown M. E. Church, offered the invocation.

The ball writers were standing in front of the elevators, prattling idly, as is their wont, and they noted Mr. Terry's detour, thinking nothing of it. A moment later, they saw him again, this time blandly examining his finger nails as the elevator door swung open for lobby guests. Without a word on either side, the door closed and he was whisked above.

Until then, they had had a formal bowing acquaintance. Now they look
